4. 5. With the right to present other defenses as permissible by law.

Considers

By decree of the 23rd May 2008 (page 51) the Court ordered that the present proceedings be conducted in the English Language in terms of Article 4 of Chapter 189 of the Laws of Malta as both parties are English speaking.

Plea on the Counter-claim

The case has been adjourned for today for judgment on the preliminary plea of Dietmar Mansfeld on the counter-claim made by the curators on behalf of respondents Ganymede Limited and John Biagini.

Applicant Mansfeld submits that in terms of the law a curator represents and defends a person who is absent from the island, but if he decides to present a counter-claim on behalf of his represented, he is no longer acting as a curator but as a mandatory of the absent person, receiving orders from him.

On the other hand, respondent curators contend that according to article 936(1) of Chapter 12 of the Laws of Malta the curators are bound to use their best diligence for the benefit of the interest which they represent. The duties of the curators shall include... (b) to take all the necessary measures to safeguard the aforesaid rights. Moreover in this case, the curators submit, they could present a counter-claim, as according to article 400 of Chapter 12 « The defendant may not set up a counter-claim in a capacity other than that in which he has been sued, nor may he, in setting up the counter-claim, sue the plaintiff in a capacity other than that in which the plaintiff has claimed. » .

Considers

According to article 929 of Chapter 12, curators are appointed (a) in the interest of absent persons ; (d) in the interest of a body of persons, if the person vested with their representation is absent from Malta. The Court, upon making an order for the appointment of curators, issues banns. Where any person appears and by a note signed by him, offers to accept the appointment, the court confirms as curator the person so appearing.

A person who so appears, « funge la parte di gestore d'affari dell'interessato che esso si avanza a rappresentare » (Vol. 27 p.1 p.1004), and so assumes the rights and duties of a negotiorum gestor (Article 1018 Chapter 16). It is accepted that « I-ufficio del curatore alla lite e' simile a quello del procuratore ed i suoi poteri sono limitati dai termini del mandato ». (Vol. V11 p.208). On the other hand in the case of curators appointed ex officio by the Court they are indemnified by the person who sought their appointment.

A curator appointed in terms of article 933 of Chapter 12 has the duty according to article 936 to use his best diligence for the benefit of person he represents including taking all the necessary measures to safeguard his rights, in this case also presenting a counter-claim.

In the present case by a note filed on 16th April 2008 Legal Procurator Madeleine Firman accepted the banns to be appointed as curator of John Biagini and presented a reply which she confirmed on oath. In this reply, there is also a counter-claim in which respondent is submitting, that contrary to what applicant is claiming, Mansfeld failed in his legal obligations and acted negligently thus causing them damages which they asked the court to liquidate and condemn Mansfeld to pay. It is evident that respondents' claim is connected with the claim of applicants and they therefore could only set up the counter-claim in the capacity in which they had been sued.

Decides

The Court therefore decides the present issue by rejecting applicant's preliminary plea on the counter-claim made by the curators.

With costs against applicant.

Adjourns the case for the continuation of applicant's evidence for the 7th April 2009 at 11.00am.
