Jirrizulta mill-provi prodotti illi l-kwerela mibghuta mill-Federazzjoni Kaccaturi u Nassaba Konservazzjonisti (Malta) hija bbażata fuq kumment illi deher bhala 'blog post' taht artikolu riprodott u intitolat 'Hunters vow action over government policy'. Dana l-artikolu, ippubblikat fit 30 ta' Awissu 2011, kien jghid is-segwenti:

"The Federation for Hunting and Conservation yesterday said it would embark on a "different course of action" over the government's attempts to "gradually eradicate" hunting and trapping.

The federation did not, however, spell out what that course of action might be.

Kopja Informali ta' Sentenza

In a strongly-worded statement, it claimed that the government was “led by the nose by BirdLife Malta” and described the lack of fixed hunting seasons as a “puerile” tactic by the government.

“The unnecessary ban on afternoon hunting in September was never endorsed by the Ornis Committee in its annual recommendations. The government simply ignores Ornis and bows to the demands of BirdLife and the German-based CABS, both of whom want to usurp the Maltese countryside for their extremist ends.”

The criticism comes on the back of the publication of the government’s hunting and trapping policy guidelines, which banned autumn trapping and dismissed the possibility of any derogations being issued for the trapping of quail or turtle doves.

According to the FKNK, the policy guidelines make it clear it is the government’s intention never to permit trapping for the quail and the turtle dove, to always impose the September afternoon ban, to never allow hunting in May and that it was planning further restrictions on Sundays, public holidays and even during school holidays.

Having sent a detailed critique of these guidelines to the government, the opposition and the Ornis Committee, the FKNK was now “constrained to embark on a different course of action” and not “allow any government to remove what rightfully and legally belongs to the Maltese hunters and trappers”.

Jirrizulta illi dakinhar illi gie ppubblikat fl-artikolu, ezattament fid 09.52am, sar kumment minn persuna indikata bhala ‘Mr Emanuel Curmi’ fejn sar is-segwenti kumment:

Now that is going to be a difficult one. The hunting lobby has resorted to just about everything. Intimidation, arson, vandalism, lobbying, threatening, beatings etc the list is long, to say nothing about the blatant breaking of hunting and trapping law every single day. Thinking something new and original is really going to take a lot of imagination. The Open season hasn’t even started and it is shooting galore already in case nobody noticed.

Kif jingħad f’Gatley on Libel and Slander

“The question is whether the libel designates the plaintiff in such a way as to let those who knew him understand that he was the person meant. It is not necessary that all the world should understand the libel; it is sufficient if those who knew the plaintiff can make out that he is the person meant...i.e. meant by the words employed...There is abundant authority to show that it is not necessary for everyone to know to whom the article refers; this would in many cases be an impossibility; but if, in the opinion of a jury, a substantial number of persons who knew the plaintiff, reading the article, would believe that it refers to him, in my opinion an action, assuming the language to be defamatory, can be maintained; and it makes no difference whether the writer of the article inserted the name or description unintentionally or by accident, or believing that no person existed corresponding with the name or answering the description. If upon the evidence the jury are of opinion that ordinary sensible readers, knowing the plaintiff, would be of opinion that the article referred to him, the plaintiff's case is made out...It is the circumstances in which a statement is made which give it colour, meaning and thrust: they may combine to make a statement, seemingly innocuous in itself, an infamous defamation of a person who is caught and pointed to by those circumstances...Even if the ordinary member of the public who reads a defamatory statement in its context would not regard it as referring to the plaintiff, nevertheless it will be held to refer to the plaintiff if it has been published to readers who as a result of special facts or special knowledge would understand it as so referring. The question is "how ordinary sensible men having the special knowledge proved could understand the words complained of...."

Kif jinghad fil-ktieb ta' Carter Rock "Libel and Slander":

The sole relevant question in every case is: Would reasonable persons understand the words to refer the particular plaintiff? Factors to be considered in deciding this question are, as Lord Porter pointed out in Knupffen's case "the size of the class, the generality of the charge and the extravagance of the accusation".
